

Elegy for My Mother

When the moon is full and paints the dark land light.
Wishes matter not. The cycle is done.
Fullness must fade.

So rise up
rise
to the heights
and call forth
in love and glory
your story

to blend with light reflected foretelling
birth of dawns – awaiting.